

06-30-2000, 03:59 PM

Nick

Location: Atlanta, GA

Join Date: Jun 2000

Posts: 563

Offline

to the best of my knowledge, Aikidoka is the Japanese way of saying it- Aikidoist is the American way of saying it.

I called myself a karateka when I was a gokyu, so I dunno-

-Nick

--

Nick Porter

"Do not fall into the trap of the artisan who boasts twenty years of experience, when in fact he has had only one year of experience-- twenty times."

<http://www.aikiweb.com/forums/showthread.php?t=63>

The Aikidoist trains to harmonize with, rather than confront an aggressive line of force and converts it into a circular motion that renders attackers helpless. The Aikidoist trains to apply various wristlocks, arm pins or unbalancing throws to subdue and neutralize attackers without serious injury. Such practice is done in tandem with learning the art of falling, or "ukemi", which trains the body and mind to receive such techniques in a safe manner.

<http://www.usaikifed.com/about/aikido/>

合気道家

Aikidoka (eye-khee-doh-kah) 合気道家: Aikido practitioner

<http://www.albanyaikido.com/about-aikido/aikido-terms/>

アイキドーカ

【ニワカ何人?】山木のホーリーランド【part14?】 - 2ちゃんねる

sports9.2ch.net/test/read.cgi/budou/1164636803/ / Translate this page

Nov 27, 2006 - Only good Aikidoka is a dead one. (良いアイキドーカは死んだアイキドーカだけだ); 557 : 名無しさん@一本勝ち: 2006/11/28(火) 22:47:50 ID:1XoZ0uasO: >>555 マジすか! 体格しいでは案外いけるんだねえ。 >>556 まあ昔の人は ...

<http://sports9.2ch.net/test/read.cgi/budou/1164636803/>

あいきどうか

aikidouka / aikidoka	あいきどうか	🇯🇵 aikido practitioner
----------------------	--------	------------------------

<http://www.orientaloutpost.com/dictionary.php?q=aiki-aikido>