Words are only breaths of the voice. ~ Roscelin's letter to Peter Abelard

A spoken word, which is numerically one quality, is a universal; it is a sign conventionally appointed for the signification of many things. ~ William of Ockham, Summa Logicae

Good early morning. You may read a synopsis of Emancipatory Constructionism™, a new critical social theory. The Institute for Emancipatory Constructionism™ welcomes a diversity of voices to its conversations. IEC™ serves as the theoretical, praxical, and research agency of The MarkFoster.NETwork™, an emancipatory research project. Substantively, MF.N™ focuses on critical sociology (public, clinical, and religion), advocacy journalism, and radical history.

IEC is one of the constituent publications within The MarkFoster.NETwork. After running compatibility tests on this site, we recommend these browsers.
