How can a nation like the United States be duped into two wars and total bankruptcy? It would be one thing if the “truth” about 9/11 was internet conspiracy theory. This isn’t the case, it was all right there, in everyone’s livingroom. They fooled us once and then fooled us again and again. Yes, America has some tail to kick but this time, maybe we should make sure our boot goes up the right rear end for a change.
The real hole in the Pentagon, before construction equipment enlarged it was so small a man had to duck his head to enter. For 9 years, this photograph was captioned “Second Floor.” This photograph has a firefighter in the foreground and, unless gravity was suspended on 9/11, he is standing on the Pentagon’s lawn. Listen to CNN describe a crash site with no aircraft parts of any kind, seats, bodies, wings, engines, tail section….none of it. Can it be this simple?

The CNN reporter at the Pentagon immediately after the “crash” found no aircraft debris. After closing off the site, the next morning, huge pieces of plane were hauled away, pieces that weren’t in any of the photographs on 9/11. I hate it when media stooges scripted by the real terrorists don’t check the time carefully enough.

Watch a BBC reporter talk about a building collapsing that was still standing, actually with very little damage, right behind her. Yes, Americans are that easy to lie to.
Watch Larry Silverstein tell network news that WTC 7, the same virtually undamaged building was “pulled” by firefighters. Since making this statement, no single individual, firefighter, 9/11 Commission member or anyone else has backed up this wild claim. Need we mention that setting demolition charges alone would require weeks?
Here, Dan Rather on CBS describes the collapse of Building 7 as “like films of controlled demolition we have seen, buildings deliberately destroyed by well placed dynamite….”

Some Americans are burning Korans to celebrate 9/11. Some are deeply disturbed about an Islamic community center being built nearby. If I might suggest, perhaps 9/11 might be better served as “hallowed ground” if it were a place of execution. A great nation could transplant it’s mightiest oak to the site. That hallowed oak and a few lengths of hemp used with intelligence and consideration on our enemies at home and abroad would best honor our dead.

Just a thought….

There is currently no conclusive forensic evidence that the airliners indicated nor the hijackers accused were ever involved in 9/11 in any way.

Yes, Americans are that dumb. You wonder why our banks are empty?

I really need your support to keep paying the server bills and keep this site running.

Sometimes I don’t think people realise how much it costs to pay for a server and all the bandwidth costs that entails. I am out of pocket every month keeping this site running therefore I would urge you to help support me so the site doesn’t have to close.

There are some very obvious ways to help me out that cost you nothing but it seems people are not choosing to take this route and the few mouse clicks it would take therefore I would urge you to consider making a small donation to the site especially if you enjoyed this article or are a regular visitor to the site.

   The funniest thing about these videos is that the people who make them can’t even spell basic, small words correctly. It’s like when I get an e-mail from a so-called business that is chock full of errors. It goes straight into the trash bin, because you can’t take anyone seriously when they can’t even bother to write correctly. I mean, who distributes a video with the words “did’nt”, “offiicial”, “aquainted”, and “to Late”? This is a high school kid with too much time on his hands. No one I want to waste time on.

   Oh my goodness……the “decision to pull” refers to the decision to pull firemen out of the building because it was no longer safe for them to be inside. Did you folks really think the “decision to pull” had something to do with bringing the building down?

actually the author of that article is an ex US marine who runs the website Veterans today, check it out.

Whether Silverstien meant pull firemen out or pull the building down is up for debate as “to pull” a building either through using demolitions or pulling it down with wires is a well known term. Obviously if Larry did mean pull the building he is not going to admit it is he? not with all the controversy that has surrounded the matter since.

However we do know from a journalist (from FOX if I remember correctly) who wrote a hit piece against proponents of controlled demolition the other month, Larry was actually on the phone to his insurers during the afternoon asking for permission “to pull” the building down as he believed it was unstable and about to collapse. Obviously this doesn’t prove anything but it does show he was thinking about bringing the building down therefore it is not far fetched in the slightest to use that bit of information and his interview to infer that he wanted to “pull” the building down rather than “pull” the fire fighters out.

About Dark Politricks

Dark Politricks is a site dedicated to investigating the dark side of politics including corruption, propaganda, the police state, war on terror, the intelligence services and their misdeeds, false flag attacks and much more. The site also promotes free speech, internet freedom and social justice. For an overview of my beliefs and political leanings please read this.

Whereas the site contains many articles from various sources I do write a lot of my own essays and I am now having to pay for hosting to ensure that this under reported content is available. So please help me continue to do so by visiting advertisers sites or making a small donation.

Will Mitt Romney bring real change to America?

Yes he will undo everything Obama has done, restore America to a great prosperous nation, reduce the national debt and narrow the gap between rich and poor.

Mitt Romney is nothing more than a white version of Obama except with richer donors & friends. He won't change anything.

He won't do anything as he is the other side of the same coin that controls American policy.

He will bring "change" like Obama promised on his first election campaign. Once in the White House executive orders will rule.

He might change a few things but the majority of Obama's policies will remain and the country will continue on the same path.

Yes he will bring back jobs companies like his have off shored, abolish Obamacare which is modelled on his own state's health care system & end the wars all previous president have fought.

He is the answer to all America's problems. He will end the FED, end the wars, bring back liberty and freedom, repeal the NDAA and PATRIOT Act and stick to the constitution.

He will carry on the great policies of Bush, lower taxes for the rich, attack Iran for Israel, screw the poor and abolish Obamacare.

He was the best of bad bunch of GOP candidates and the only way we can show our disapproval is by spoiling the ballot paper.
